WINE HOSTS BIO

Jerry & Elaine Owen, Proprietors - Lady Hill Winery

Capturing the earth, the weather and the year in a bottle, wine is ultimate farming. It was in 1995 when Elaine and Jerry added vines to the fields of vegetables, grains and arborvitae on the family's 5th generation Willamette Valley farm. They designated this 20-acre estate vineyard St. Columban. In 1999, they co-founded Owen Roe Winery in what was formerly the machine shop for the farm. They rolled out the tractors and combines and rolled in the tanks and barrels, transforming the space into a full production winery.

The winery is situated on 1500 acres that the family has farmed since the 1850's. Adjacent to Champoege State Heritage Area where Oregon's first provisional government was founded in 1843, each generation has cultivated crops, family, and memories. In 2012, they created a new winery and gathering space that would honor the past and contribute to the rich history of this land.

Join Jerry & Elaine on this beautiful wine cruise along the Rhone.
